Read the text again and look at the highlighted words.

- Pam There, there. You don't look very cheerful. What's wrong?
- Claire Everything!
- Pam Why? What's the matter?
- Claire I'm fed up with my parents! They want to control my life. Just every part of it.
- Pam Come on! Don't look so gloomy. What's upset you so badly?
- Claire I had an awful row with my father. You know, my parents never really listen to me. They just don't want to know about my problems.
- Pam I know how it feels. But what can you do about it?
- Claire Absolutely nothing! Just wait until I grow up.
- Pam Why don't you talk through your worries with someone you trust? Do you have anyone?
- Claire Yes, my grandma. She's a great listener. The other day when I had this awful row with my father, I ran away ...
- Pam No! You ran away?!
- Claire Yes, and I went to my grandma's. I had some of her home-made cake, and then we talked and talked and talked. It felt so good.
- Pam Is there anything I can do to help?
- Claire No, don't bother, really.
